You saved me

By BlackFireDemon01

Submitted: May 3, 2005
Updated: May 3, 2005

this is a poem that i wrote for school and i like it so much that i decided to post it. Its about my memory.

1 - You saved me

You Saved Me

Yelling and screamings is all I hear,
They are so far apart but still so near.

Yelling and screaming is all I see,
If it wasn't for you, here, I would not be.

You were there all day and all night,
Even when I got in a fight.

My house isn't as safe as I thought,
I could kill myself but I rather not.

You saved me even when I could not see
Your face, your glow, as happy as can be.

Even though I am the only one that can see you,
Doesn't mean I can't be together like glue.

They think your just someone for a laugh,
But that's not it, not even half.

No one understands that I need you,
Some one to love and care, someone true.

I am very happy now that you are here
Some one who is finally near.