Chapter 1 - chocolater for your thoughts

set up camp there. he said turning around and heading back to the tree line. She sighed and took one more look at the sun set before getting up and following him.

I'll go gather some wood for the fire. she said walking past him into the woods.

Alright but don't go too far! he called to her. Really, now he was starting to get annoying. He had always been like that, she realized a few minutes later after she started picking some wood off the forest floor, she was just extra moody today. The problem wasn't with Jaken, it was with her, and she knew that she had no right to take her frustration out on him. Then she started getting mad at her self. Why in the world was she acting like this? Why did she have the thoughts that she did? Why in the hell was she crying!? She dropped the wood at her feet and touched her cheek to find it wet. Then she dropped to her knees.

Oh Kami why are you doing this to me? I feel so bad and I don't even know what I feel bad about! She cried for a few minutes longer before she felt a hand touch her shoulder. She gasped and jumped away from the hand only to be comforted by her master's voice.

It is only me Rin. he said. She blushed at being found in such a weak state and turned her head to try and wipe the tears away. Like in doing that she would make him forget that he had ever seen her like that.

I-I'm sorry Sesshomaru-sama, you just startled me. she said trying to regain her composure.

Why are you out here by your self? he asked her pulling her up to her feet. And crying no less.

I&I was just gathering fire wood for tonight. And I&I stepped on something sharp, that's all Sesshomaru-sama. she claimed as she stooped to pick up the fire wood she had dropped. He knew she was lying; he could smell it all over her. But he decided not to press the matter. If she wanted to tell him about it then she would have already. He took the fire wood from her arms and started walking towards Jaken's tent; Rin followed slightly behind him.

Sesshomaru-Sama! Welcome back! Did you see the progress Kagome-san has made with her pregnancy? Or did the mutt give you trouble again? Jaken started his questioning as soon as he saw a few strands of Sesshomaru's silver hair peeking out from behind the trees.

Sesshomaru didn't bother to answer the question. In fact his brother didn't start any trouble, so the trip wasn't as horrible as he thought it would have been. But that didn't mean that he was going to tell them that. The fact that he was almost actually getting along with his half brother was embarrassing enough, he didn't need them to think he had gone soft. He sat the fire wood down next to Jaken and told him to start the fire.

Yes milord! As he started the fire up Sesshomaru removed a bag hanging from his side and handed it to Rin.

It's from the Miko. he simply said. Rin's face lit up with a bright smile knowing that Kagome-san was thinking of her. She opened the bag and found a box inside with a bow on it and a note.

It s a good thing Sesshomaru-sama had Jaken-sama teach me how to read. She thought to her self as she read the note.

Dear Rin-chan

I m writing to tell you that everything s going fine with me and the baby. I should give birth within the new two weeks. I hope I ll see you after the baby is born. I also hope you enjoy the chocolates in the box; they might help you feel better. I know they help me, especially when Inuyasha starts to get on my nerves. But don t tell him I said that. Anyway enjoy and I can t wait to see you again. The next time I do you ll be an aunt! Isn t that wonderful?

Love Kagome

P.S. Inuyasha says hello too.

Rin smiled as she finished reading the note. It was nice to know that she had people somewhere that cared for her and wanted to see her. And she was going to be an aunt soon! She was very happy about that. Even though she and Kagome-san weren t blood related she had told her that she was the little sister she never had. And she had always looked up to the miko. It filled her heart up with warmth just thinking about it. She folded the note and placed it beside her on the ground where she was sitting in front of the newly belt camp fire. She took the box of chocolates out of the bag and opened them up. She had had chocolate before when she went to visit Kagome-san and Inuyasha-san a few months back, but the piece she had had was bigger then the little round and square ones that where in the box.

What is in the box Rin? Jaken asked coming out beside her. Jaken hadn t had any of the chocolate when he accompanied her to Inuyasha s village, so he was curios about the new sweet smell that was coming out of the box in her hand.

It s called Chocolate Jaken-sama, would you like to try some? she asked him holding out a piece for him to take. He sniffed it once more before taking it out of her had and popping it into his mouth.

Mmmm, this is pretty good, these are from Inuyasha s mate? he asked. She nodded her head glad that he liked them. Well, as good as they are I think it s time I go and find us an appropriate dinner. I will be back. Rin do not aggravate Sesshomaru-sama understood? She nodded again and watched him @$$ he walked into the woods, probably looking for a bore or some other creature to have for dinner. To tell the truth she wasn t hungry. Though the chocolate treats did look good, she was still plagued with thoughts and daydreams that scared her and wasn t in the mood for them. She put the lid back on the box and set then aside. She bought her knees up to her chin and laid her hand down on them. She sat staring out over the cliff into the night sky thinking about her life and what she was going to do. She wanted to stay with her Sesshomaru-sama forever. But at the same time she knew that he wouldn t want her to follow him for that long. Soon he would get tired of having to take care of her and send her off to a human village. Probably with Kagome-san and Inuyasha-san; they were so nice to her, and she liked them very much, but she did not want to be sent with them. She wanted to stay right where she was, right next to Sesshomaru-sama.

Rin? she lifted her head to see him sitting right next to her looking at her curiously.

Yes Sesshomaru-sama? he looked at her for a moment longer studding her eyes, almost as if he was trying to read her mind, before he finally spoke again.

What is troubling you? she blushed three shades of red. She knew she shouldn't have lied to him in the woods earlier, but she was too embarrassed to tell him. So she put on her best fake smile and lied through her teeth, though she knew it wouldn't get her anywhere.

Nothing is troubling me Sesshomaru-sama. Why do you ask? Yeah&like that was going to work on him. One of his slender eyebrows rose so high she couldn't see it behind the silver bangs covering his forehead. She would have laughed if she didn't think it would have offended him. She smiled again in a horrible attempt to make him believe her, but his eyebrow had not come back down. She sighed and looked down to her feet.

I&I do not wish to burden you with my petty troubles Sesshomaru-sama. I will be fine by morning milord.

Your burdens are not petty Rin. Tell me. he used his tell me now or I will not feed you for a week tone so she was inclined to tell him now. Though she was not sure how she would go about this when she didn't even know what half her troubles were.

Well, I don't know how to start Sesshomaru-sama. I know this might sound strange, but I'm not even sure what troubles me half of the time. The last time I saw Kagome-san I asked her about it, and she said it was just a stage that teenagers go through, and that she had done the same thing when she was my age. I just worry about things a lot more than I used to basically. She didn't want to tell him that what she worried about most of the time was having to leave him, so she kept that to her self.

He nodded his head understanding her and left it alone. He looked in between them and found the box of chocolates and picked them up. He opened the lid and took a piece of the chocolate and popped in into his mouth. He didn't eat human food, but he found that these chocolate things Rin and Kagome seemed to like so much actually put them in better moods after eating them. He was curious as to what could make the girls switch moods so quickly.

Do you like the chocolate Sesshomaru-sama? Rin asked him. He licked the roof of his mouth to get rid of what lingered before answering.

It is not unpleasant. But I do not see why you and the miko like it so much. he replied. She giggled and took a piece for her self.

Really? I don't see why either. But they do make me feel a little bit better after two or three. Maybe you need to eat more before you feel it because you're a youkai. What she said made since to him, so he picked out another for him self and ate it, she did the same. After three or four pieces Jaken came back
