

Hymn To The Sea

By Delayed_Reaction

Submitted: January 17, 2006

Updated: January 17, 2006

Just a poem about my crapy life, how I've been feeling. And someone very dear to me.

Provided by Fanart Central.

http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/Delayed_Reaction/26709/Hymn-To-The-Sea

Chapter 1 - Untitled

2

1 - Untitled

You'll always be here,

You'll always show,

And I believe it even now,

When seeing you isn't so.

I remember the days,

Always filled full of happiness.

And the things we did,

And the games we played.

I still hear your laugh,

It echo's in my mind.

I still see your eyes,

How they seemed to shine.

I believe you when you say,

“I’ll watch over you.”

Cause I know that’s exactly what you’ll do.

You guide me and help me,

Making sure I know the way.

I’ll take your advice,

I refuse to cry.

I won’t say,

“I wish I was dead too.”

My love for you will never die.

You had your reasons,

I'll respect it even though I thought differently.

We never saw it coming,

You took me out of my cold hearted seasons.

In a sea of so many,

You stand away from the rest.

You're so different from the others,

That's why I love you best.

I might not be able to except that you're gone.

But tonight I'll look out at the sea,

And see your shining face,

Looking straight back at me.

In a sea of so many,

You stand away from the rest.

You're so different from the others,

That's why I love you best.

And I'll smile back at you,

Like no other smile.

In that sea of dead souls,

You think so differently,

And from the Heavens above,

I know you'll watch over me.