

Star Wars: Knights Of The Old Republic

By ForceAdept

Submitted: July 18, 2008
Updated: August 20, 2008

This is a story about the video game Knights Of The Old Republic. It shows Revans rise to the dark mantle of sith lord. And later his redemption, enjoy.

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/ForceAdept/53515/Star-Wars-Knights-Of-The-Old-Republic>

Chapter 1 - Prologue	2
Chapter 2 - Endar Spire	5
Chapter 3 - Taris	8
Chapter 4 - Dirty Work	12
Chapter 5 - Bounties	14

1 - Prologue

Star Wars: Knights Of The Old Republic[br]

[br]

Prologue[br]

[br]

[br]

Ah, space. How I enjoy it out here, better than the noise of Coruscant, or the heat of Tatooine. It was unique. Each star shines its own light and inspiration, and gives its own skills and uniqueness to the universe. But the Jedi can't see this. They sit back. They will watch innocents die, and everything burn just to avoid open conflict. Pathetic, all of them. All my life I was taught to be peaceful within and believe in the force. I believe I should help those innocents.[br]

[br]

"Revan?" [br]

[br]

I turned to look at the source. "Yes, Malak?" I replied. My apprentice, Malak, was young and still believed and trusted the Jedi fully. The only reason he follows is because I am his master, as he is my padawan.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Master, do you believe it is right? Defying the council like this?"[br]

[br]

[br]

I looked him deep in the eyes "Malak, don't be a fool. The council won't take action, so we must go with the Republic and take action"[br]

[br]

[br]

"Y-yes, master." I could see the hesitation in his eyes as he spoke, still unsure of what to do.[br]

[br]

[br]

He walked out of the door of the command bridge. A high ranking republic soldier -- a commander, likely -- came in and walked to me. I knew he had the news I wanted to hear.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Sir, we have sighted the Mandalorian fleet. Should we engage?" he looked at me sternly for an answer. All Jedi were seen as wise and powerful figures in the galaxy. I turned to him.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Yes, engage their forces now." He saluted me and walked out. I looked down to my side to my helmet, then picked it up and placed it over my face, I walked to the door ready to go and fight for the innocent and for what I believed in.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Those fools. The Jedi council are supposed to help, not leave innocents to die.” I suddenly remembered what happened a week ago.[br]

[br]

---

[br]

[br]

I looked around at me at all the masters. Master Kavar, a powerful Jedi Weapon master, renowned for his skill with a double bladed lightsaber. Master Zez-Kai Ell, a renowned Jedi Master for his double bladed lightsaber, passive and calm nature, and strong sense of justice. Master Vrook, who is known for his grouchy yet cautious nature with the council. Master Vash, known for her kind and gentle nature yet strong resolve. And finally, Master Atris, known for her strong love of the Jedi and all it stands for.[br]

[br]

[br]

They all looked down on me like a beast, each watching me cautiously. They didn't understand my ideas or beliefs. They fear my power and what I am capable of. I have always been naturally talented with the lightsaber and the force.[br]

[br]

[br]

“NO! Revan, we are not going to war just because you say so,” Master Atris shouted.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Atris, calm down. Revan, we cannot just go to war. Too much is at stake just for your beliefs,” said Master Vash.[br]

[br]

[br]

“You were always hotheaded during your training, You need to look at the bigger picture, and not just what you want,” suggested Master Vrook[br]

[br]

[br]

“They are right. You are being too hasty,” said Master Zez-Kai Ell.[br]

[br]

[br]

I turned to Kavar, my best friend and the person I trusted most. He must believe me, he must.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Revan, I am sorry. We can't go to war.” I looked at him shocked.[br]

[br]

[br]

My best friend betraying me. I didn't know what to do. To think, I suddenly looked at all of them.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Fine. If you won't go to war, I will. My padawan and mewith the republic. If you will let innocents die, I won't be part of it.” I stormed out of the room.[br]

[br]

---

_____ [br]

[br]

[br]

That day, I was shown how bad the Jedi were. Even the Sith would protect their own. I hate them all. I will show them. [br]

[br]

[br]

2 - Endar Spire

Star Wars: Knights Of The Old Republic[br]

Chapter 1: The Endar Spire[br]

[br]

Author's Note: To anyone who is new to the KOTOR game, there is a large plot gap in the beginning that will gradually get filled. So please, no comments on the plot gap, because it is intentional. Thank you.[br]

[br]

My eyes shot open. I had awoken to a loud roar from the metal around me. My eyes wandered my quarters. I could hear... Laser fire. What was going on? I sat up slowly when suddenly, the door into my quarters opened. In walked a man who was around his thirties. He had gray hair which was shaved down the sides so there was only hair on the top. He was wearing a republic uniform.[br]

[br]

"LIAM, GET UP FAST!!" he roared at me.[br]

[br]

"Who are you?" I asked, confused.[br]

[br]

"I am Trask Ulgo, an ensign with the republic. I work opposite shifts to you, so that is probably why you don't recognize me. Anyway, Liam, get up and dressed! We are under attack," he spoke concerned but also he seemed worried. I wondered why. [br]

[br]

"Who are we being attacked by?" I asked him.[br]

[br]

"The sith. They set up an ambush. They are after Bastila." I looked at him, confused.[br]

[br]

"Who?"[br]

[br]

"The young Jedi that is in command of this ship and this mission. Come on, Liam, we are soldiers. We have to protect her." [br]

I sighed, and climbed out of my bed, I walked to my locker, and got dressed and ready for battle. I then turned to Trask.[br]

[br]

"Okay, let's go," I commanded. Thankfully, I was a high ranking officer on this ship, so getting the soldiers together will be easy.[br]

[br]

We left the room and ran down the corridor We opened another door at the end, and saw a firefight ensuing between a sith boarding party and two republic soldiers. Trask and I watched as blaster bolts came from both sides. One sith trooper got shot in the head and fell to the ground dead. His teammates carried on with renewed courage and gunned down both republic soldiers with their blaster rifles.[br]

[br]

Trask and I stepped into the hallway. I aimed my blaster rifle and Trask aimed his pistol as we fired at both sith troopers, eliminating them with ease, then proceeded down the corridor. We stopped when my communicator on my wrist produced a hologram of a man with brown hair and a brown beard.[br]"There is one last escape pod. All remaining units, hurry! Bastila is in one, you are the only ones left alive, so hurry! Things are getting worse every minute! I can't hold this position any longer!" he said quickly, then the hologram disappeared.[br]

[br]

"I know who that was. That was Carth Onasi, the best pilot in the republic fleet. If he says things are bad, then they must be. He has seen more battle than all the Endar Spire crew put together!" He spoke quite proudly of this man.[br]

[br]

"I don't care, Trask. I just want to get off here alive." We carried on fast through the winding corridors of the Endar Spire.[br]

[br]

After some minutes, we arrived at the bridge and saw a large group of 7 sith troopers there. As soon as we entered, they aimed their guns at us.[br]

[br]

"DROP YOUR WEAPONS, REPUBLIC SCUM!" commanded one of them; the leader, I presume.[br]

[br]

Trask and I looked at one another. We then spotted a sith fighter flying down at the bridge window out of control. I grabbed tightly onto a control panel and Trask held onto a pipe tightly. The man watched us, confused, then he turned around and saw the ship. Before he could react, it smashed through the bridge window, causing everything to be sucked out at extreme speeds. Trask and I held our breaths. I felt my feet being pulled toward the window. I watch as the sith troopers all got sucked out, then the metal blast doors shut down on the windows.[br]

[br]

"Emergency blast doors activated," said a robot over the computer.[br]

[br]

"I have never been so happy to hear a robot before," I said. "Trask, come on, we need to get to the escape pods."[br]

[br]

As we ran through the door out of the bridge, we saw the doorway to the escape pods. Suddenly, the control panel turned red and the door locked. We heard a faint humming get gradually louder. We turned to the source of the noise, to see a Dark Jedi wielding a double bladed red lightsaber. He stared menacingly at us.[br]

[br]

"HA! Two more rats have come to the slaughter. Prepare to die, republic scum," he said, grinning evilly.[br]

[br]

He charged at us and swung his lightsaber, I dropped my blaster rifle and pulled out my longsword. I swung it up to parry his incoming strike, but I did not see his foot. I felt a powerful kick to my stomach and I fell back onto the floor winded, holding my stomach. He walked to me slowly readying his lightsaber, when Trask dove in and swung at him. The Jedi saw and ducked, then growled and kicked Trask in the stomach, forcing him to the floor.[br]

[br]

I swung my sword at the Jedi, but he held out his hand. My whole body tightened as if an invisible grip had me. He lifted me up and I struggled. Trask pulled out his blaster pistol and shot at him but the Jedi held out his hand and deflected it at the panel, which turned green and opened. The console was badly burnt, but still working. Trask growled and got up and swung a fist at the Jedi who blasted me away from him to catch Trask's fist. I landed through the door to the escape pods, holding my back in agony. I watched helplessly as Trask got overpowered. [br]

[br]

"LIAM, RUN!" He pulled out his blaster pistol and shot the console net to the door and it burnt out. The door closed and locked. I got up and banged on the door wildly.[br]

[br]

"TRASK! OPEN THE DOOR! YOU WON'T MAKE IT!" Suddenly I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned around to see it was Carth, the soldier Trask spoke of.[br]

[br]

"Come on, we got no time, hurry!" He practically pushed me into the escape pod and he got in. He pressed in a number combination on the keypad and the door closed, I felt the entire pod shake and then I looked out the window to watch us get pushed from the Endar Spire. I watched then my eyes widened as the entire station exploded.[br]

[br]

"Trask...I will avenge you," I thought to myself. I then felt the pod shaking wildly and roaring loudly. I looked outside and saw flames erupting outside the escape pod. I held onto my seat tightly, and suddenly heard Carth shout.[br]

[br]

"GET READY! BRACE FOR IMPACT!" [br]

[br]

[br]

[br]

3 - Taris

Star Wars: Knights Of The Old Republic[br]

[br]

Chapter 2: Taris[br]

[br]

[br]

I looked through the pod window, and saw us approaching the planet at great speeds. I then felt a huge jolt go through the pod, and was sent hurtling toward the pod wall. My head banged against the cold steel, as everything began to go dark. I could hear Carth's, but then everything went so quiet. So...

Black.[br]

[br]

[br]

When I opened my eyes, I felt my body being dragged along something rough. I heard yelling from people, but looked up, my vision was blurred. All I could make out was Carth. I could tell he was dragging me somewhere, but where?[br]

[br]

[br]

I was standing still, and I saw someone. He was wielding a lightsaber so gracefully. He looked like a sith lord, but as I thought this, a woman and two men stepped forth. The female leader spoke with authority.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Stand down, Revan!" she commanded.[br]

[br]

[br]

I was surprised. I was watching Revan, the hero of the Mandalorian wars and the dark lord of the sith. Suddenly, a blast shook the ship, and I saw Revan fall to the floor unconscious. [br]

[br]

[br]

"LIAM! ARE YOU OKAY? LIAM! LIAM!!!" I heard Carth.[br]

[br]

[br]

My eyes shot open, and I saw Carth looking down at me with a worried expression.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Thank God, I thought I lost you," he said. I could hear the fear in his voice.[br]

[br]

[br]

"No, no I am fine. I just got shook up from the pod trip, that's all. Speaking of that, what happened?" I replied curiously, and still a little drowsy.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Well, we crash-landed here on the planet Taris. I believe Bastila is here too. We have to rescue her but we --" I cut him off before he could speak.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Rescue? What problems could she be facing here? Taris is a peaceful planet" I said, confused.[br]

[br]

[br]

"I was about to say before you interrupted me." [br]

[br]

[br]

I rolled my eyes as he said that. Geez, this guy was so cranky. [br]

[br]

[br]

"This planet is controlled by the sith, and they quarantined it." [br]

[br]

[br]

I looked at him wide eyed. "Oh, that is just great! How can we get off this planet then?" I said, frustrated.[br]

[br]

[br]

"We need to get the codes to get out of Taris, but first we need to get Bastila," he said, almost as if he was ordering me. I didn't like that, but he was my only ally.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Okay, where can we find her?" I asked.[br]

[br]

[br]

"I heard some rumours of pods crashing in the lower levels. We should investigate there, but we need to get past the sith guard first."[br]

[br]

[br]

I sighed. "Okay, let's ask around. Someone should know," I said, and he nodded in agreement.[br]

[br]

[br]

I geared myself up, and Carth got his blasters ready. I quickly glanced around the room.[br]

[br]

[br]

"You got us an apartment?" I asked curiously. [br]

[br]

[br]

"Yeah, they don't really care who is in them. No one checks them," he said I nodded. We walked out and I stepped on the floor and heard a yell.[br]

[br]

[br]

"DAMN KID! I JUST WASHED THERE" [br]

[br]

[br]

I looked at the source of the voice apologetically. "I am sorry, I didn't know." [br]

[br]

[br]

"It's alright, kid," he said, more calm than before.[br]

[br]

"Excuse me, but do you know any way we can get to the lower levels?" I asked him. He gave us a look like as if we were crazy.[br]

[br]

[br]

"You must be nuts if you want to go there! It is full of swoop gangs at war."[br]

[br]

[br]

"But we need to get down there," Carth said desperately. The man stood there and was quiet for a moment.[br]

[br]

"Listen," he said. "I don't know how but I bet that hutt in the cantina would." [br]

[br]

[br]

I looked at Carth with an unsure expression "What do you think, Carth?" [br]

[br]

[br]

"It's the best chance we got, Liam. We best take it." [br]

[br]

[br]

I nodded slowly. "Okay, thank you." I shook his hand, and Carth and I made our way to the elevator.[br]

[br]

[br]

When we walked to the elevator, we noticed two sith guards guarding it. We both looked down hoping they won't notice. Carth walked past them and stood in the elevator. As I walked I felt a strong grip on my arm.[br]

[br]

[br]

"What is the matter s--" He stopped and I felt his eyes drift onto my republic insignia on the chest on my suit. I suddenly felt as if I could read his movements, then felt them grab me and slam me into the wall hard. I brought up both of my feet and kicked them both back. I pulled out my sword and swung it diagonally up along the sith soldiers chest, bringing out a yell from him.[br]

[br]

[br]

His partner fired a shot at me, but I rolled out of the way, and I lunged forward. I unleashed a flurry of slashes to his armour; his body dropped to the floor lifeless, and I panted and I ran into the elevator to Carth.[br]

[br]

[br]

He looked at me kind of fearful. "How can you fight so well? How did you know to dodge his moves?"

[br]

[br]

[br]

I looked at him, scared "It was as if I could feel his movements." [br]

[br]

[br]

"Maybe that hit did more than I thought," Carth said worried.[br]

[br]

[br]

He then pressed a button on the keypad and we went down to the bottom floor.[br]

[br]

[br]

"Well we best go see this hutt in the cantina," Carth said. I nodded as I heard the elevator come to a halt. [br]

[br]

[br]

4 - Dirty Work

Star Wars: Knights of the Old Republic

Chapter 3: Dirty Work

We both stepped off the elevator, the energy of Taris around us as rush hour approached. I looked around and noticed a sign in Basic entitled "Cantina: First Turn on the Left". Carth and I set off to the cantina nervously, hoping not to run into any Sith patrol. I discarded my jacket with the Republic insignia along the way to avoid notice. We entered into the cantina feeling the buzz of energy and entertainment around us. A blue twilek waitress approached us.

"Welcome to the Taris Cantina," she said. "Is there anything I can help you with?"

Carth and I looked at each other, unsure if we want to let our mission be known. After a moment, Carth spoke.

"Do you know of anyone with information regarding the downed Republic escape pod?"

"I do not know any information," the twilek responded. "But my master would know of it."

She escorted us into a back room in the cantina. It was dimly lit as we entered, but a central large figure could be seen as we approached inward. A loud booming voice shouted to us.

"What is your business?"

"Do you have any information about the downed Republic escape pod?" Carth questioned.

A smaller figure leaned toward the large figure. We heard them whispering as the voice responded.

"If you would like this information, you must do a task for my master."

Carth and I gave each other a confused look.

"What is this task?" I replied.

"My master has people that are causing trouble for him and his business," the large figure said. "If these nuisances were to be eradicated then information may be given."

"And who are these people?" Carth inquired.

The large figure spoke with authority. "These two people may be located in the apartments. The first one is Nedina, and the second is Bendak. Both of these have been causing large problems for my business. Eradicate them and I will hold up my end of this agreement."

Carth and I, not wanting to waste time, rushed out of the room in a hurry. Running out of the cantina, we headed back to the apartment complex. We stepped in the elevator and activated it and it took us up to the apartments. As the doors opened, cold air blew onto our faces and we stepped out. We turned and walked towards our apartment, when a man stopped us.

"Are you two the men doing work for my master?" he asked cautiously.

We both nodded in unison.

"Both targets can be located in apartment sixty nine," he said, then he walked off, leaving us all alone. We continued toward apartment sixty nine.

"Freeze!" commanded a voice of authority, as we neared the apartment. "You Republic scum!"

We both spun around as my eyes set on the Sith patrol behind us, their guns at the ready.

5 - Bounties

Star Wars: Knights of the Old Republic[br]

Chapter 4: Bounties[br]

[br]

Carth and I looked at one another, our eyes wide.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Now come with us quietly, Republic scum!” he commanded us.[br]

[br]

[br]

The soldiers walked toward us. I waited till one was near to grab him, and hold to me as a hostage. I had my gun aimed at his head with the blaster pistol. The leader of the patrol watched us carefully.[br]

[br]

[br]

“How did you know we were here? And how did you know we are from the Republic?” I said to him, my gun still aimed at the man's head. I could feel him shaking in my arms.[br]

[br]

[br]

The leader grinned then spoke. “Let's just say you trust easily.” He pulled out his gun and fired. The soldier I was holding let out a scream, and I felt him go limp in my arms as I threw him to the side. I rolled quickly out of the way of the incoming blaster fire and behind a wall, Carth following my lead.[br]

[br]

[br]

“How did they know? And what did he mean?” said Carth confused.[br]

[br]

[br]

“I am not sure,” I replied, trying my best not to show fear. “But we need to get rid of this patrol.”[br]

[br]

[br]

I leaned to the edge of the wall and peeked around. I saw them making there way slowly to us. I nodded to Carth, and we both sprang out from behind the wall and fired our blaster pistols at the patrol. I watched as two soldiers fell from our fire, and ducked from an incoming shot when I noticed a frag grenade. I reached out and grabbed it. I looked at the patrol and pulled the pin out of the frag grenade. I tossed the grenade into the middle of them, as Carth and I ran behind the wall.[br]

[br]

[br]

We both covered our ears, and felt the room shake from the explosion. I waited a couple of seconds before dropping my hands. I walked out from behind the wall, and stared at the scene. The patrol had been wiped out, I then heard a door open and a gasp.[br]

[br]

[br]

“WHAT HAPPENED!?!?” a cry demanded.[br]

[br]

[br]

I turned to see two people standing in the doorway of apartment sixty nine. One was a small green rodian with black shiny eyes. The other was an average height person, he was dressed in a golden Mandalorian armour. My eyes widened as I noticed his arsenal of weaponry.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Are you Nedina and Bendak?” I asked cautiously.[br]

[br]

[br]

“And what if we are?” the golden armoured Mandalorian replied. His voice told me is a man and most likely this Bendak.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Well then...” I paused, I gathered all my strength. I didn't want to kill, but I had no choice [br]

[br]

“Then you die.” I fired my gun at the rodian and she fell in one well placed shot to the chest.[br]

[br]

Bendak though rolled out on the fire, he pulled out two blaster pistols and fired at us. I fell to the floor to avoid his shot, and quickly pointed my gun at him and fired. He was too quick though, dodging and avoiding each of my shots. I then noticed Carth pulling out his second blaster pistol. I watched as he ducked and fired quickly at Bendak and hit a well placed shot to the head. I watched as Bendak fell, his body limp and still on the floor.[br]

[br]

[br]

I sighed. “It's done, Carth. Let's go back and get this information.”[br]

[br]

[br]

“I hope it is worth it,” he said angrily. I knew he didn't want to kill either.[br]

[br]

[br]

“Me too, my friend. Me too.” I said reassuringly.[br]

[br]