

A Dark Angel and Her Silver Knight

By KC-Whitestar

Submitted: October 18, 2004

Updated: October 18, 2004

(Cy/Rae) Raven, the only titan that can't afford to feel anything.... or can she?

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/KC-Whitestar/8121/A-Dark-Angel-and-Her-Silver-Knight>

Chapter 1 - Feelings?

2

1 - Feelings?

K.C. Whitestar here! Hey everyone! This is my first TeenTitans Fic. This isn't gonna be the best fic of Teen Titans that some of you have read or written =^_^=

'Thoughts'

"Speech."

(oos)

Note: this is a Raven/Cyborg fic, those two are my favorite characters on the show the others are good but those two are my favorite. ^_^

Disclaimer: I DON'T OWN TEEN TITANS!!

A teenager with jawbone length dark lavender hair and dark eyes sat on the roof of the Titan Tower. Her knees close to her chest, and her arms wrapped around her legs. Her blue cloak flowed in the wind. She turned her gaze towards the night sky, the stars glistened in the darkness and the halfmoon shone over the city.

A cold wind blew that night. The teen stood and walked inside of the Titan Tower. She was greeted by the warmth of the building and the sounds of water running and video games being played.

"Hello, Raven," A red head, green eyed teen smiled as she continued washing the dishes. She was dressed in her usual purple tight short, sleeveless shirt with a silver collar, and her matching purple short skirt along with the matching thigh boots.

"Hello, Starfire," Raven said in her normal even tone. Raven's eyes scanned the room, she saw a green skinned teen playing the videogame with a dark haired teen.

"Oh, no you don't, Beast Boy!" the dark haired one exclaimed.

"Wanna bet, bird boy!" Beast Boy exclaimed.

"Starfire, where's Cyborg?" Raven asked.

"I believe, that he is in the garage working on the 'baby,' Raven, but why do you ask?" Starfire answered.

"I'm used to seeing him play the video games with Beast Boy, that's all," Raven answered walking off. "I'm going to go check on him, then I'm going to go to bed."

"Good night, friend Raven," Starfire smiled.

"Night!" Beast-boy and Robin shouted as they continued playing.

"Good night," Raven said walking off towards the garage.

"Aw, come on!" She heard a male voice say in frustration. She laughed lightly and smiled.

"WOAH! Who's there?" The male voice asked.

"Chill, Cyborg, it's me, Raven," Raven said walking forward so he could see her.

"Jeez, Rae, ya nearly gave me a heart attack!" Cyborg said facing her.

"Sorry," She said. "So what are you doing?"

"Just tuning up the T-Car," Cyborg answered.

"Do you want some help?" Raven asked. Little did Cyborg know but ever since he and Beast Boy had entered into her mirror she had developed more feelings than friendship towards the half-man half-machine. The feelings grew when the two of them rebuilt the T-Car after Overload made Cyborg destroy it. So since then she had spent more and more time with him.

"Sure," Cyborg smiled. He remembered when she had helped him rebuild it, after they were done she smiled the biggest smile he had ever seen her smile and she looked so cute with the oil mark on her face.

Raven unclasped her cloak and set it on a chair near the stairs. She walked over to him and placed her hands on the edge of the car. "So what's the problem?"

Cyborg didn't hear her, it was the first time he had seen her with out her cloak and she had one of the sexiest bodies that he had ever seen, 'WOAH Where did that come from?!' he thought.

"Yes?" She asked noticing him staring at her.

"Sorry!" Cyborg shook his head while blushing. "Well, ya see, I, uh, I dropped my wrench and I can't reach it. It's right there." He pointed to the gas line.

"Ah! I see it," Raven said. She closed her eyes and the wrench became surrounded in black energy and it levitated to Raven's hand she grabbed it and the wrench returned to its normal silver color. "Here." She held it out to Cyborg. Cyborg reached for it and their hands touched.

'Her skin is so soft, like silk.' Cyborg thought.

'I don't care if his hand is metal it just felt so warm,' Raven thought.

"Hehe, Sorry about that," Cyborg said taking the wrench blushing.

"Sorry for what?" Raven asked leaning to one side with her hands on her hips.

"Well, you don't like bein' touch an' all an' well...." He blushed.

"I don't like it when other people touch me, but..." Raven smiled a faint pink on her cheeks.

"But what, Rae?" Cyborg asked.

"But it's was okay," Raven smiled. "Well it's late and I should get to bed, good night Cyborg."

"G'night, Rae," Cyborg said as she started to leave. "Oh and Rae, thanks."

"Anytime," Raven smiled as she left him.

Cyborg waited until he couldn't hear Raven's foot steps anymore, "BOOYA!" He looked over and saw that Raven had forgotten her cloak. 'I better go give it to her.' He thought and after closing the hood of the T-Car he picked it up and walked up the stairs. He found his way to Raven's room and he knocked lightly on the door.

The door slid open a crack and all he could see was half of her face.

"Yes?" She asked.

"You, uh, you left this in the garage," he said holding it out.

"Oh, thanks Cyborg," She smiled taking it.

"Well, uh, good night, Rae," he said.

"Good night, Cyborg and thanks for returning it to me," She said.

"No prob," He smiled as the her door closed.

Raven could feel her heart pounding she walked over to her mirror and moved into it.

"Hi ya Raven!" A Raven dressed in pink smiled.

"Hello, Raven," Raven said.

"See ya!" the pink Raven giggled skipping away.

"Wait! I need to talk to you," Pink Raven stopped and walked over to Raven.

"What's up?" Pink Raven asked.

"Well, I think you and my other sides are getting out of hand, I'm having a hard time keeping you under control when I'm with Cyborg, do you know why?"

"Well, I leave the real thinking to Yellow Raven but to be simple, we're in love with Cyborg!"

"But how? We can't fall in love, remember?"

"It happens, Red Raven hasn't been feeling well lately though." Pink Raven giggled.

"Why?"

"We're almost 17 right?"

"Yes..." Suddenly it hit her. "But I thought it wasn't supposed to happen until we were 18!"

"Well, we can feel more emotion, this year, then we have the last few years!"

"Thanks Raven, I'll talk to you later." Raven stood and flew to the forbidden door where she would leave.

"Don't forget to tell Cy!"

As she left her mirror Raven blushed. She yawned and walked over to her bed. Smiling she crashed into her pillow. 'I wonder if Cyborg feels the same?' She thought falling asleep.

Meanwhile

'Raven,' Cyborg thought walking away from her room. 'Why is my heart pounding?' He walked to his room where he would sleep and recharge. 'Wait, I couldn't be.... no way.... she and I couldn't.... could we?' He entered his room and his last thoughts as he went to bed were 'Am I in love with you Rae?'

The next morning Starfire, Beast Boy and Robin were up before Raven and Cyborg.

"Cy and Raven sure are sleeping late, they're gonna miss out of my Tofu eggs and Bacon!" Beast Boy complained.

"So what are your plans today, Beast Boy?" Robin asked taking a drink of orange juice.

"I was gonna go and see Terra, why?" Beast Boy asked.

"Well, I was wondering if you guys wanted to go and see a movie," Robin said.

"Nah, I'm gonna go and see Terra then I'm gonna hang at the arcade," Beast Boy said. "Why don't you and Star go?"

"Oh, yes! Let us go to the show of moving pictures!" Starfire said with her child-like enthusiasm.

"Okay, then," Robin smiled. 'Finally sometime alone with Star.'

Breakfast was eaten and they were about to all head out but Robin left a note for Cyborg and Raven.

"Cyborg and Raven,

Beast Boy has go to see Terra and go to the arcade, Star and I have gone to the Movies, don't know when we'll be back, take care!

Robin"

Shortly after Starfire, Beast Boy and Robin had left, Raven awoke. She made her way to the kitchen and found the note on the table near her herbal tea. 'So it's just me and Cyborg huh?' She smiled and made her tea. She was about half way through with it when she heard the sound of a door opening. 'Can't be home already can they? No, wrong sound, it's probably Cyborg.'

Sure enough, Cyborg walked out of the door that led to the hallway to their rooms.

"Good Morning, Cyborg," Raven said drinking more of her tea.

"G'Morning, Rae," Cyborg smiled. "Where's everybody else." Suddenly a black and white paper levitated in front of him. He read it. "Oh." The paper was released from Raven's powers and it floated to the ground.

"So it's just you and me, until the other Titans get back," Cyborg smiled turning to her.

Raven nodded. 'Should I ask him?' Raven thought.

'Should I ask her?' Cyborg thought.

"Raven," Cyborg said.

"Cyborg," Raven said at the same time. They laughed lightly. "You first."

"You sure?"

Raven nodded again.

"Well, ya see last night, when I returned your cloak, somethin' inside me clicked, I was wonderin' if ya would wanna go out on a date with me, you don't hafta if ya don't wanna, Rae."

"Cyborg," There was hope in her normally monotone emotionless voice. "I want to do more than go out on a date with you, to be honest, ever since you and Beast Boy were in my mind, I've had feelings for you, I.... I..... I love you," Raven answered, a light blush on her pale cheeks. "Would... Would you be my Boyfriend?"

"Raven," He walked over to her and sat next to her, he put his arms around her. "How come nothin' blowing up?"

"Well, I'll be 17 soon and because of that, my father's control over me is weakening and I can show more emotion than I have been able to."

"You're father's control?"

"My temper is weakening, and because of that, I can show emotion, or more." Raven looked up at him and he looked at her the became lost in each other's eyes. They leaned in towards one another and their lips touched in their first kiss. They pulled away from each other.

"I love you, Rae," Cyborg said.

"I love you too, Cy," Raven smiled.

End

Lame I know, Pointless, yeah..... but no flames please^_^Thanks 4 reading^_^