

Column #3

By KDD

Submitted: May 19, 2004

Updated: May 19, 2004

Are humans unappreciative of what they have in their current day? In this fast paced society, how needy are we?

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/KDD/3505/Column-3>

Chapter 1 - Unapriciative Humans

2

1 - Unapriciative Humans

Material objects. Many religions teach us to shed ourselves of such things. But, are humans so needy that we can't seem to achieve such ideas? How many of us have heard our elders say time and time again that we should appreciate what we have now because we might not be so lucky in the future. Most of us hear that so much we just say in our heads, "ya ya ya." But maybe we should start appreciating things more. For example, Walking. We walk along not a care in the world but what would any of us do if we were to lose a leg? Most of us would be thrown into a deep depression and wish we had that leg back. This only shows that we all should appreciate everyting we have a little more than most of us do now.