"Help," He cried. "HELP"

A man looked at him as if he had just committed a murder. But the boy looked away.

"I want him." The man said pointing to the boy. "He talks!"

"Yes well, he can't be sold. He isn't human." The orphanage lady said.

This may be my chance to escape. But this woman won't let me go. And my legs can't walk on this puny gravity. I'll shoot into space. Or crash into the floor.

"This kid is great! I'll pay you $500! No $10,000 for him! He's so cute an imaginative. He could me what he need until he's 3." The man said.

"But she's 7! Of course SHE can tell me what she wants! She can talk. But this is a 1-year-old! You can't make a baby talk until its 2! And it's 1!" The man argued. You could quite tell he wasn't planning on leaving without a fight, or the boy.

"Please let him have me. You're probably going to keep me for your self! Open your own carnival where the main event is a talking baby! And then, once you're rich, make your own ride called the baby talker. It will star me. "Oh, my, GOD! He's a-

"No he is not a mind reader. Is that what you were going to say?" The lady interrupted.

"I want that baby, and I'll take him, WITH OR WITHOUT A FIGHT!" The man yelled.
