1 - Birthday

Forgetful

page 1

It was a dark day, none of the titans wanted to go outside or do anything, Beast boy was playing video games with Cyborg, and Raven was TRYING to read, because Beast Boy and Cyborg were making so much noise, trying was the only option. And, as usual, Robin was in his room, trying to figure out another puzzle about another villain on the run. Starfire was in her room, just laying there, upside down as usual!

"Today is not a happy day as it should be" Starfire said to herself. She was very unhappy for one main reason. Today was April 19. Starfire's birthday, and so far, no one remembered. "I know! I will go and visit my friend Robin! He is always kind to me!" Starfire said and jumped up off of her bed and raced out the door.

Knock Knock

Starfire knocked on Robin's door. No answer.

"Robin, are you in there?" Starfire asked. There came a slight mumble from inside the room. "Robin?"

The door thrust open. "Robin!"

"Starfire, can you please keep down, I'm trying to work in here" Robin said.

"But Robin, I have just merely come here to tell you that-"

"Starfire! I don't care! I'm on a breakthrough on this case and I can't lose my place now! Now please, leave!"

"But.....Robin" Starfire said beginning to cry.

"I don't care!" Slam!

Starfire couldn't believe what just happened. So she ran, ran into the mess hall, where the rest of her friends were. She came bursting through.

"SURPRISE!" Beast Boy said as Starfire. Raven was there and so was Cyborg. They were all wearing party hats.

"What is going on?" Starfire was confused.

"Dude! It's your birthday, what did you think we would forget?" Beast Boy said.

"Well, obviously, Robin forgot." Starfire said.

"He did? That little creep!" Raven said storming off.

"She's been in a bad mood all day." Cyborg said.

"Robin!!! Get your butt out here Now!!!!" Raven said.

"Raven, what is the matter with you, I was-"

"You are such a little creep!!"

"What are you talking about?!"

Slap! Raven slapped Robin across the face.

"What was that for?!"

"You forgot Starfire's birthday!"

"What?!, noooooooooo, noooooo, her birthday is on the 19, and today is the-"

"The 19th!!!"

"No, it's only the 18th!"

"Check your frikken calendar, if you weren't always cooped up in your room all day, you could realize that she is 17 today, and if you remember correctly-"

"Starfire leaves for Tameran after she's 17! "

2 - Saying Sorry isn't easy, even when you mean it

Starfire was laying down on her bed. A day full of merrymen, and joy, she was completely wiped out. Beast Bot, Cybory and Raven had given her the best birthday party she could imagine! But for some reason, Robin was not there. She had thought everything would be better after Raven went to talk to him, but all she heard was loud screaming and a door slam, and that was the last she heard of Robin that night. Now she had to begin packing for tomorrow's journey to Tameran. She started at it, but for some reason, she had found herself laying on her bed, staring at the ceiling. Starfire sighed. She didn't know what to do, she desperately wanted to talk to Robin, but at the same time, she wanted nothing to do with him. She was so confused at what to do, she started to cry. She couldn't help it. Her cry was silent, but everyone could feel that she was sad. Even if they weren't in the same room as her, they could sense it. Starfire rolled over on her bed and closed her eyes. Nothing would stop her from getting the sleep she deserved. At least, that's what she thought.

Robin was sitting at his newly cleared off desk. It was "newly cleaned off" because when he heard about what an idiot he had been, he slammed the door and tore up his room. He couldn't believe he had treated her that way, not after all that they've been through. There was no excuse for his behavior. And now, for his selfish act, he had to pay the price. He had to do something. He thought of apologizing, but he had never been good at that. He had to find some way to let her know how sorry he was, and how bad he did not want her to leave. But he had to come up with it fast, because he knew he wouldn't be able to do it in the morning, when everyone is around him, making him feel very uncomfortable, he needed to do it now. But how to do it? He thought and thought and thought.

"Damn!" He said, slamming his fist into the table. "Why hadn't I listened to her?! If I had just done that, maybe I wouldn't be in this delima!" Robin shook his head then laid it back down on the table. "What to do! What to do!" Then, he had it! He knew exactly what to do, but he had to hurry fast, because he didn't want Starfire to grow angry in her sadness.

Starfire felt a small wet spot on her cheek as her eyes fluttered open. Silkie was on her pillow giving her a good mourning kiss. But of course, he was a bit early, on account of it was midnight.

"Silkie," Starfire said sitting up straight and scooping up her pet. "Why are you waking me up this early?" Silkie licked her again, and she hugged him. "Oh, my Silkie! I will take you with me to Tameran, and you will be able to meet everyone there, and there will be many foods there for you to digest!" Starfire laughed a little, but she still didn't feel any better inside. She put Silkie down, and he ran to his bed and fell straight asleep. She sighed and laid back down. She had close her eyes for just a moment, when she heard a knock at the door. She shot straight up and looked to the door, wondering who it could be at a time like this. She walked to the door slowly and sighed hard before she opened it.

Here's some more, I'll post more, that is, if you people want me to?

3 - Don't you ever forget me...my beloved

Starfire went up from her bed to answer the door, but when she opened it, there was no one there.

"That is very strange" Starfire said to herself, but as she looked down in her weariness, she noticed a small trail of flower petals on the ground. "What is this? I can't believe someone would make such a mess like this! and in the hallway? right outside my door? Well, i think i should at least see if this mess will lead me to the person who created it" Starfire said, following the rose petals around the twists and turns of the tower. She didn't know exactly it was leading her (mostly because her head was down the whole time inspecting the petals as she walked by them).

Finally, she sees where it leads her too.

As she walks up the step and opens the door, she is outside ontop of the tower, the sun is just rising, leaving a beautiful color streak across the sky and there stands Robin. Holding in his hands some flowers.

"Ummm..." he said nervously. "The...These are for you" he says giving her the flowers

"Robin? What is this for?" Starfire asked, a tear rolling down her cheek.

"I....I....I am so-"

Starfire cuts him off. "Robin? Are you.....you don't want me to leave? Do you?"

"Never. I would never want to leave your side. And i have no clue why i could ever believe that your thoughts and what you have to say are not important! Because they are, Starfire! They really are.:

"Robin..." Starfire said, looking to the ground. Another tear escaping from her eye. Robin sees this and runs towards her and pulls her into him. By this time, she cannot stop crying and he is trying to calm her. "I don't.....want to go! I...don't! I don't! I don't want to leave you!"

"You never will! Do you hear me? You can never leave me?! I will always be with you. Because I....because i....i...-"

"Robin? You what?"

((i will write more later!))
