1 - One Last Time

One Last Time

By Kat

The sleepless nights I've pondered

If there really is a heaven

And if you're even up there

At this I am not certain

Or sometimes I just wonder

If there's actually an afterlife

Maybe we just simply stop existing

Or perhaps become a poltergeist

Perhaps I'm just aimlessly wondering

About things that aren't important

Unlike school and such

But then again, I am redundant

Like right now, you have crossed my mind

Just randomly it seems

But when I get to thinking

You've come to me in dreams

Telling me you're okay

That for me not to worry

And also, not to cry

For you are like a winter flurry

Falling down gracefully toward the ground

Filling all around you with joy

And land so delicately on the ground

And even play coy

Perhaps you last awhile

Until the day warms up

And you start to fade away

And I hold you, pick you up

I cry and cry as you slowly leave

Frantic about your pain

And what I will do without you

As your blood smears on my shirt and stains

You look at me quivering

Whimpering from the immense pain

And I look down at you

Noticing you do not look the same

You do not look like the carefree friend I once knew

Nor are you groomed the same

Your hair matted with blood

The look in your eyes of pain

Now I stare deep into your eyes

Wishing to do it over again

Perhaps I could have saved you

And you would have never been slain

I now see the light go slowly from your eyes

The look of pain slowly disappearing

I let out a shaky sigh as I realize

Your heart slowing its beating

I look to you, you look to me

We both stare at each other

I kiss you upon your head

And hug you tighter than ever

You grunt slightly and let out a whine

You lift your head up, ears down sadly

And give me a kiss...one last time

2 - Not Possible (song)

“Not Possible”

Written by Kat Goetting

Lyrics by Kat Goetting

I don't know what's comin' over me

I know that you're gone

It's just that I can't concentrate

On anything no more

It's a feeling I get even though you're not around

I can't make it go away

It just won't leave me anymore

What can I say?

(Chorus)

What the hell is wrong with me?

I can't believe what's happening

Everything's so hard to figure out

I've tried to repress all the mem'ries of you

But I caaan't

It's just not possible no more

I can't get away from it

It's coming all around me

Wrapping me up inside my thoughts

Like giant rope constricting me (Tighter and tighter and tighter)

I can't even think without you

Popping up in my thoughts

You're just so

(Repeat chorus)

(Bridge) slower music

I've tried all I could

To forget about you (forget about you-ooo)

But it's not working out like I thought it would (thought it would)

I can't gain control of it (oo-hoo-ooo)

It's happening all over again

Again

And again and again and agaaaaain!

(Electric guitar solo)

(Repeat chorus twice...fade out)

3 - Magic Puddle

Magic Puddle

~By Kat ~

You may think I have gone
But you really don't understand
That im alright, im fine
But just living in another land...

Here the grass is always green
The sun is always out.
It is nice and peaceful
I've got too many socks to count!

By the way, Dixie's here too
She was sitting there, waiting
I told her that you still loved her
And she sat there, contemplating.

“Yes I know” she stated blinking.

I was confused. “How do you know?” I asked,

Clearly not thinking.

She laughed good naturedly and shook her head

“Because I've listened to what they've said.”

I was still not getting it

But then it hit me.

“I can see my family??” I said, tail wagging impulsively.

Her eyes grew misty as she responded,

“No im sorry...you can't”

My tail drooped to between my legs as I hung my head down low

For now, I knew I was separated from my family

Dixie came over to me, and pawed at my fur playfully

“Now, now, now no need to fuss; I guess I could show you some...but not much...”

I leapt to my feet eagerly and followed as my curiosity

Was enticing me

I panted eagerly

What I would see!

We finally got to what looked like

A shiny puddle of water

And she looked in it then over at me

I blinked and spoke, and then off guard I caught her.

“What are we doing here for? Shouldn't we be off somewhere less a bore?”

She glanced at me, then continued staring

Into that massive water puddle.

I still didn't understand

How anyone could be so stubborn?

I finally gave up, sitting down

On my haunches with tail curled

She glanced at me over her shoulder and shifted over abit.

“Come over here, come on closer...” She said.

I obeyed and padded over and sat next to that old dog.

She turned her gaze back to the water, and so did I after a moment longer.

My eyes widened to what I saw

I blinked again and blinked once more

Trying my hardest to focus on it, eyes growing sore.

In the puddle, I saw my family,

Still sad about my passing.

One girl standing by my ashes, mourning and talking to me.

My eyes welled up with tears as I saw her

I wanted to go back

I wanted to be once more, running down the road a white blur.

But Dixie had made it clear

That no matter how much I want it

I will never be able to...and what fell from my eyes; a single tear.

Dixie sighed and stared lovingly at the family she once knew but still loved.

“Things have changed since I left...” She muttered almost to herself.

I nodded and I turned away, sad to never return, due to my current location `above`

She too padded away, but not as sad as I

No, she did not look ready to cry

I walked with her over the green, green fields

Questioning about the magic puddle,

And if my fate is sealed

She turned to me once more a glistening in her eye

She blinked and smiled and then she said,

“There is no need to cry; yes you're gone from your family, as am I, you know that...but someday soon we will re-unite with our loved ones...you can count on that.”

So now that you have heard my simple little story,

Please don't cry

Nor do you worry

For someday I will meet you again,

Do not weep

Do not plead

Do not start sobbing...

For I love you...

Love,

Bobby

4 - A Year

A year

Is it really been a year since you were here?

And I felt happy and content

Because you were always near

Everyone told me the pain would not last

But my heartache and tears

Still do from the past

Life is hard and a daily struggle

Without you

Oh how I long for a Bobby cuddle

You made everything that was wrong - alright

It's hard to keep going

I'm losing my will to fight

I wish I could call you home

But you can't hear me

So I must remain alone

Bobby-

For every second

Of every hour

Of every day

Of every week

Of every month

Of every year

I have Missed You,

Mourned you,

And

Loved You

I will always remember...
