0 - prologue

"No please don't!" I said. "It has to be me Sy, if not, this will be you." said Ty. Then Derthla raised her knife, with Ty and I immobile, there was nothing I could do. Ty was going to be killed!!!!

It was an ordinary, plain, old, sunny day. All was quite in the land of Southern Rivers. There was only the sound of a babbling brook and the flutter of a butterfly filling the air. A panting came from the distance. Suddenly, as if out of nowhere came a Tasmanian tiger, striped red, with a brown sash with silver buckle, back nose, blue eyes glistening with the sun, with dark blue gloves, and blue swim shorts, came rushing past the scenery. Well I am that Tasmanian tiger, my name is Sy. I zipped through the premises, as if, something was chasing me. I stopped at a huge ledge, it seemed like a bottomless foggy pit in between the two ledges. There was a rustling in the bushes behind me, so I quick stepped back and sprang forward, and leaped across to the other side. I thought I was safe, but then, something jumped across too, and jumped on me. "TAG YOUR IT!!!" said Ty. "Well you didn't have to jump on me! Get off me!" I said, while pushing Ty off of me. "Sorry, but there was no other way to get you." said Ty while standing up.

"Oh well," I said, "we better get home, mum and dad are probably flipin' out cause' we're 5 minutes late." We both started laughing, as we began walking home. I thought I heard something rustle in the trees behind us. Being the younger brother, and not having Sly around, I asked Ty if he heard any thing. Ty just answered "No." I just answered "Yeah" and went on. But about five minutes later I became more and more paranoid. I kept hearing it. I kept stopping to listen for it. Ty started to get worried. Wait, there is something moving through the trees! I hastily pulled out my boomerang and lunged it forward into the tree behind me.there was an awkward pause..... "... Did you use my Zoomerang again Sy?" ask Ty "No!" I said, "Don't boomerangs normally make a noise when they hit something? I go gypped! They're always supposed to come..." Suddenly my boomerang came thrusting back to the middle of my forehead. "Back?" said a soft voice in the most violent tone. Suddenly a Tasmanian Devil, young, female, with purple hair, and a glossy purple and yellow outfit, with wraps on her elbows, and metal shoulder protectors, leaped out of the tree holding on to the other boomerang I threw. Ty immediately leaped back and pulled out his boomerang, but she was just too experinced! She knocked him down with ease. As soon as I get back up she moved behind me and said, "When I knock you down stay down."

When she held my boomerang high in the air, she swiftly swung it downwards. But I sprang up and ripped my boomerang out of her hand, in the process, leaping behind her, and almost hit her. She quickly span around and elbowed me in the stomach, pulled out her knife, stabbed me, and as I fell to the ground, she grab my boomerangs, threw me against the tree, and thrust my boomerangs at me. One hooked my neck to the tree, but it hit me so hard, I was knocked out before I hit the tree, and the other hooked my legs together and against the tree. She fled off because all of bush rescue just arrived, but by that time, everything went dark.

When I woke up all I saw was nothing. I was still asleep, only in a dream. It's like I could see my whole childhood behind me. From the day I was born, Ty and Sly were still young, so mum and dad left them with a babysitter and not letting him know that he was going to have a brother until they got home because they had to leave so quickly, they wanted to leave it a surprise. I was born in the hospital in Baramungee. But at the same time, Boss Cass attacked the city, and the hospital was destroyed. I got separated with mum and dad because they had to stop him, and was on my own through out the rest of my life. Over time, I ran into the bunyip elder, Nadu Gili and lived with him in the dreaming after Ty got mum and dad out of the dreaming. Then Ty released the quinkan from the dreaming, and allowed a way for me to escape. With Southern Rivers being so different, I got lost!!! Finally the Quinking was defeated, and I found the new Baramungee and met up with Ty and Sly. From then on, we've been acting like we've been with each other all our lives.

"Is he awake?" said Ty's voice. "Well he got hurt really badly, but he will recover." said Julius "Wait, I think he's coming to." Said Sly's voice "Uhhh..." I said, "What happened." "Well," said Ty as he inhaled deeply, "You got knocked out by Derthla, someone who's teamed up with Boss Cass who is trying to take down bush rescue yet again through some secret plan that we know nothing of yet. But, we are going to go on missions to find out what we can about their plans." said Ty. "Oh," I said, kind of confused, "It looks like we got a new adventure ahead of us."

1 - Who is this?

It's the next day and I just woke up from a nice night's sleep in the hospital. I just recovered from my most recent injury. I jumped out of bed and grabbed my regular clothes, I was wearing some robe-ish thing they gave me here. I walked over to the bathroom in my room, as I open the door, I stuck my had to the side wall to turn on the lights and the exhaust fan. The air in this place was so, stale, unusual and uncomfortable. I wanted to take a shower and clean off from the fight with Derthla yesterday. I was extremely angry at myself for failing like I did yesterday. There was a knock on the door on the outside of my room, "House-keeping." said a woman. "I'm still in here, I made no mess, and everything else I will take care of." I replied. I could hear her cart rolling away along with the beat of her feet. I took of the clothes they gave me here and folded it up and set it by the door next to my clothes. I stepped into the shower and turned the nozzle on to the hot water. Before the water even touched me, I could feel the relaxing heat flowing out of the nozzle. The soothing flow of the water was enough to relieve myself of all stress. After I was done with the shower, I turned the nozzle to "off." I stepped out and wrapped a towel around my waist and took the other one to dry myself off. The soft steam was still floating in the room. I walked up to the mirror and drew a bunch of smiley faces on it .

I put my clothes back on, and folded the towels and set them on top of the robe thing. I took the laundry, and stuck them down the laundry chute. I made the bed. I left the room and walked downstairs to the front desk and checked out of the hospital. I started my way out the door until I ran into the nurse that helped me when I was in the hospital. "Thank you for helping me of my time of need." I said to her. "Oh, It's ok, it's my job to help people, and you just happened to be one of them." she answered. "Well, I'm still grateful anyways." I said.

After my conversation with the nurse, I headed out the door, and towards Bush Rescue Headquarters. Half way down the road, I realized that I left my boomerang at the hospital. I spun around and hastily raced towards the hospital. I ran into the front door, quickly catching my breath, I opened the door and fled right pass the welcoming counter, before they could say anything. I got back up to where my room was, my boomerang was on the table just like I left it. But there was two letters on it. Ty and Sly must of put them on it when I was sleeping before they left. One note said, "Dear Sy, thanks for your quick reactions, hope you have a G'day mate! -Ty-" I began to smile. The other one said, " Hey mate, I heard what happened, hope you recover, your bro, -Sly-" I smiled happily, but there was a tear trickling down my cheek. I'm so joyful, but yet, I'm crying. As I wipe away the tears from my face, I thought, "Man, they care about me this much." I kept crying. I had never felt such a connection with my brothers. I had not known them for very long, I didn't even know I had brothers not to long ago. I just thought that they were some heroes. Maybe it's the fact that I've never had brothers before, but, I've never been so happy in my life. I just wanted to burst out in tears. I was so grateful for having brothers, having a family. I never had this feeling before, it felt so warm. I felt like, like I belong.

After such an emotional experience, I wiped the tears from my eyes and decided to take a nice relaxing walk in the forest before heading back to bush rescue HQ. As I left out the front door, I stuck the notes in the back pocket of my bathing suit. I went out in to the forest, to relax, unwind. I lied down under a tree and looked up at the sky through the trees. Suddenly, I heard a noise, it sounded like some one stepped on a twig nearby. I looked around, I saw no one, or nothing. I felt like I was being watched. I stood up and said, "Listen, if your out there, come out!" no one answered. "come out you coward!" I demanded. I heard some rustling in the bushes. I got a bit nervous and pulled out my boomerang, and said in a quivering voice, "O...o...o.k, gulp n...now j...just c...come q..." There was some strange noise that I think I recognized before, but knew I couldn't be possible. I fled from the spot, and heard something behind me, it was getting closer, closer, closer, closer, and closer still, and close... and suddenly I ran in to some one. I leapt back on my feet in a flash, and pulled out my boomerang. "WAIT! Wait, don't hit me, I'm not who you think I am." said a young wolf. "Oh, sorry" I said, sticking my hand out to her, she grabbed my hand, and I pulled here up. I asked her, "What's your name, and why are you all the way out here?" "My name is Lizzy, and I got lost out here, I was on my way to the air port, but ... uh... I kind of... got lost" she answered. "Well, my names Sy, why are you leaving Australia?" I asked "Well..." she started, but I interrupted her, "No time to talk, come with me, I'll get you to shelter, right now it sounds like someone is coming." I grabbed her arm and started running. We rushed back to Bush Rescue HQ.

We finally got back to HQ. "Ok... why were you that far out in the forest?" I asked, she answered, "I got chased by quinkan." "Wait, wait, wait, wait, wait, Ty and bush rescue stopped them 4 years ago?!" I exclaimed, "I thought so too, but I guess not." Lizzy replied, "But, why were you trying to leave Australia?" I asked. Lizzy answered, "Well, I had this feeling that if I stayed in Australia, something bad would happen to a friend of mine, you probably don't know who he is, but his name is Sly." "SLY????!!!" How do you know my brother, him or Ty never said anything about you!" I exclaimed! She exclaimed, "Sly and Ty are your brothers? Waddya mean they never said anything about me?" Ty and Sly came rushing after out after they heard yelling. "What's going on over here bro... Lizzy?!?!" Sly shouted, "thought you were leaving!" "Well," said Lizzy blushing at Sly, "I was, and then I got lost." Ty and Sly start to giggle, "Luckily your brother found me and offered for me to stay." Lizzy went on, "So I decided to stay for a while longer." Ty and Sly just kind of stopped laughing. "Ignore those two, they can be real goofballs sometimes." I smiled as I continued, "Well, I'm glad you decided to stay, there's a spare room next to mine. You should go wash up, the bathroom's next to your room. Once your done, I'll stop by and tell you everything you need to know about Sly ty and, I." "Ok." Lizzy replied as she walked back to the rooms.

"You like her don't you?" Said Ty with a big grin on his face. I started blushing, "N...no I don't, your being silly!" I said with an embarrassed anger in my voice. "Then why did you invite her to stay in the empty room next to you.?" asked Sly with a sly tone. "Well... it's the only one we have." I replied, stubbornly. "Yeah, right." Said Ty sarcastically. "Sy, you so like her!" said Sly "Nuh-uh." I said "Sy's got a crush, Sy's got a crush." Ty and Sly chanted while circling around me. "I do not!" I stopped and paused and looked at them with a serious face. They looked back. "She told me quinkan were chasing her..." I said "hmmm, ill have Julius look into it." said Ty.
