1 - Where Am I?

Sasuke woke up in a bed, but not his own. Where am I, he thought, looking around the unfamiliar room. He sat up, rubbing his aching head. He tried thinking back, but didn't remember how he got here. "What happened," he thought out loud. He sat there, dazed and confused, unsure of what to do.

Finally, he heard footsteps out in what he guessed was a hallway. The doorknob turned and a boy about his own age entered. He had spiky blonde hair, clear blue eyes, and was wearing an orange jumpsuit. Sasuke stared blankly at him. The boy looked surprised at first, but then his mouth twisted into a goofy smile.

"So, you're finally awake Sasuke!"

"What? How do you know my name?" Now Sasuke was really confused. Who was this kid?

The boy also looked confused for a moment, but then he laughed.

"Very funny Sasuke! It's funny, I never thought you had a sense of humor! Good one!"

Sasuke continued staring at the strange boy blankly. The boy was still smiling and didn't notice. He sat in the chair next to Sasuke's bed.

"Sakura's on her way. She'll be here soon. She just wanted to pick up flowers or something. Man you really got beaten up! You've been out cold for days. They'll let you outta here soon though. And just so you know Kakashi came into the fight and beat the guys that were attacking us at the last minute. He was late, as usual. We got the client back to his village safe and sound. Those ninja were pretty tough though, weren't they?"

"Huh? Who are Sakura and Kakashi? What client? What ninja? And more importantly, who are you and where am I?"

"Ok Sasuke, it was funny at first, but now it's just getting annoying. You can stop now."

"Stop what? I'm serious!"

Naruto rolled his eyes. "You're really overdoing it."

Sasuke was getting annoyed now. He was about to yell at the pest, when the door opened again.

A nurse entered the room, with a doctor. "Naruto," said the nurse, "Come with me. I have to talk to you about something and the doctor has to give Sasuke a check-up."

"Fine," said Naruto. He looked at Sasuke one last time as he got up and walked to the door. Sasuke looked back at him, still annoyed.

The nurse led Naruto to the waiting room. A girl with short pink hair was sitting in one of the chairs, hands on her lap holding a white rose.

"Hey Sakura!"

The girl looked up and waved. "Hi," she said. When Naruto sat down she asked, "How's Sasuke?"

"He looks ok to me. He's being his usual annoying self and pretending that he doesn't know me."

"He wasn't pretending," said the nurse.

"What?"

"You are both aware that Sasuke got hit on the head during your battle and suffered from a concussion, correct?"

"Yeah, so?"

"He also has a case of amnesia. You know, a blank memory."

"What," said Sakura, tears filling her eyes.

"What are you talking about?!" yelled Naruto. "Sasuke couldn't of lost his memory!"

"Well, he did," said the nurse.

"Can we see him?"asked Sakura.

"Yes," said the nurse,"But make it short."

She led them to his room. The doctor had left and Sasuke was lying down in bed, hands behind his head. He ignored the visitors and stared at the ceiling.

"Sasuke, you have visitors. Two old friends, do you remember them?" Asked the nurse using the kind voice she saved only for patients.

Sasuke didn't answer, but finally turned to look at them, sitting up. His expression didn't change, if anything it looked more annoyed than usual.

"Ok you two," said the nurse, turning to Sakura and Naruto, "I'll come and get you when visiting hours are over. Don't say anything too suprising to him, he's still a little unstable. And when I say it's time to leave, it's time to leave, understand?"

Sakura and Naruto nodded and the nurse left the room, closing the door behind her. They both walked over to Sasuke's bed and sat in the chairs beside it. Sasuke was still sitting up, one knee up and one arm resting on it, watching them both. There was an uncomfortable silence for a while, until Sasuke sighed.

"So," he said, "Who are you guys?"

He really doesn't remember us, thought Sakura sadly.

"I'm Sakura and this is Naruto. We're the other ninja on your squad and your friends."

"Probably the only ones you ever had," Naruto muttered under his breath. Sakura elbowed him hard in the ribs.

"Are you two always like that?" questioned Sasuke. He was beginning to get curious about these two "strangers".

"Usually," said Sakura shrugging, "Only because Naruto is so annoying. And rude."

"Why is that so easy to believe?" said Sasuke with a smirk.

"Oh yea?! Well guess what? I'm the best genin in our village and I'm gonna become Hokage one day! I'm a way better ninja then you'll ever be!"

"Oh really?" said Sasuke, lifting an eyebrow.

"Yeah," said Naruto, getting into it, "You worshiped the ground I walked on because you were afraid I'd hurt you. You acted like a beaten dog around me! You did anything I said as soon as I said it. Not only that, but I always had to rescue you on missions, because you were such a bad fighter. I was your idol! Believe it!"

"Now why is that so hard to believe?" said Sasuke with another smirk. "I may have lost my memory but I'm not stupid. I don't know how good of a fighter I really was, but I do know that I wasn't worse than you."

"Wait," said Sakura, "You know you lost your memory?"

"The doctor told me." answered Sasuke, turning to Sakura.

Naruto was fuming mad, and when Sasuke turned away from him he got even angrier.

"Hey!" he shouted "What makes you think this conversation is over?! And you shouldn't judge me yet!"

"Well Naruto," said Sakura, "You did lie. That was a very nasty thing to do, taking advantage of him like that."

Naruto folded his arms over his chest and turned his face away, turning his nose up. "Hmph."

Sasuke looked at Naruto, smirking once again. "My guess is that the two of us weren't exactly best friends."

"No, really?" said Naruto sarcastically.

Sasuke shrugged, then turned back to Sakura.

"What about you? Were you and I friends?"

Sakura blushed and looked away. "Not exactly..." she said.

"What do you mean?"

"Well..."

"She had a huge crush on yo-" Naruto started to blurt out loudly, but Sakura had both hands covering his mouth before he finished.

"Huh?" said Sasuke, confused.

Naruto's idea doesn't look so bad now, she thought.

"We were much more than friends." She said, pushing her hands down harder on Naruto as he yelled a sign of protest.

"Really?" asked Sasuke, lifting an eyebrow again.

"Mh-hm." She answered nodding her head.

"Um, Sakura, was it?"

"Yes, Sasuke?"

"I think you should let him go now." He pointed to Naruto, who was turning blue in the face from a lack of oxygen.

"Oh!" said Sakura. She dropped Naruto on the floor. He took several huge, deep breaths, clutching at his neck. He quickly got up and was about to yell something, when the door opened. The nurse walked in.

"Visiting hours are over. Time to go. And Miss. Haruno, I would like to talk with you."

Oh no, thought Sakura, Did she hear me?

Naruto smiled. Busted.

"Say goodbye to your friends Sasuke, its time for them to leave." said the nurse in her overly sweet, fake voice.

Sasuke shot her an annoyed glance. He didn't like her very much. Not only was she fake, but she treated him like he was a retarded 4 year old. Plus, she thought he was too stupid to even notice that she was rude to everyone else.

"Naruto,leave. Miss. Haruno, out into the hallway. Now."

"See ya, Sasuke."said Naruto walking out the door the nurse was holding open.

"Later." said Sasuke.

"Bye Sasuke!"said Sakura waving as she too walked out the door.

"Bye."

The nurse gave a fake smile. "I'll be back in a minute." She said walking out after Sakura.

"Great," said Sasuke sarcastically. He didn't care if she had heard him or not.

He layed back, putting his hands behind his head and staring at the ceiling again.

Were these people really my friends once, thought Sasuke.

He decided they didn't seem too bad, especially that Sakura girl.

2 - The "Guardian"

For once Naruto was the first one at the bridge. He had purposely gotten there earlier than usual. All he could think about was what the nurse had said to Sakura. He thought the entire situation was unfair. The day before, after they had left Sasuke's room, Naruto had told Sakura that he would wait outside the hospital for her. He was sure the nurse was going to tell her off about lying to Sasuke like that and make her go back in and tell him the truth, but he wanted to hear it from her own mouth. He wanted to be there to comfort her when she became upset, something Sasuke would never do. But, he never got the chance. Sakura was everything but upset when she came out.

"Guess what Naruto!" she had said excitedly "I'm gonna be Sasuke's guardian!"

"WHAT? What's that mean?!"

"He's gonna stay in the guest bedroom at my house and I'm gonna go everywhere with him! I have to take him places that might jog his memory a little. Isn't that great?!"

"Oh yeah...great..."

Naruto angrily shook the memory out of his head. Sakura was going to bring Sasuke to the usual place they met Kakashi, thinking it would help.

Nothing's gonna help that guy, thought Naruto, kicking a rock into the water.

He looked up. Sakura and Sasuke were walking towards him. Naruto slanted his eyes angrily at the sight. I think I'm gonna be sick, he thought.

Sasuke had both his hands deep in his pockets, and looked a little uncomfortable. Naruto could see why. Sakura had her arm hooked around his and was wearing a blissful smile on her face. She would occasionally look up at his face, still smiling. Sasuke looked relieved to see Naruto.

Unhooking himself from Sakura, who now looked disappointed, he waved and walked up to him.

"Hey," he said.

Naruto nodded his head in acknowledgement. As much as he hated Sasuke, he didn't want him to think he was uncool.

Sakura walked up behind Sasuke. "Hi Naruto."

"Hi Sakura."

They stood in silence for a while, standing on the bridge.

"So," said Sasuke, "Where's this Kakashi guy?"

Sakura smiled, glad to have something to talk about.

"He's always late like this."

"And when he finally does come, he gives us some lame excuse for why he's late." added Naruto.

"So," said a voice behind him, "You think my excuses are lame, Naruto?"

"Kakashi!"

"Sorry, I was late I..."

He trailed off, looking at Sasuke. "When did you get out of the hospital? You didn't sneak out again, did you?"

"No..." said Sasuke, unsure of what to say.

"Um, sensai?"

"What Sakura?"

"He doesn't remember you. He got amnesia when he hit his head on our last mission."

"Oh, really?" He looked at Sasuke again. "He does look a little confused, doesn't he?" He smirked under his mask. He had never seen Sasuke as defenseless as he was now.

Sasuke returned his stare, looking him straight in the eye, with an annoyed expression on his face. I can see his attitude hasn't changed, thought Kakashi.

Naruto walked inbetween the two of them, facing Kakashi. "Hey," he said, "Do we have any missions or what?"

"Well," said Kakashi, "No."

"What!" yelled Naruto, "Then why'd you make us wait for you?!"

Kakashi shrugged. "Sakura told me to come here. She didn't say why."

They all turned to face her. "Oh," said Sakura, "I, um, just wanted to see if it would help Sasuke remember anything. Did it?"

Sasuke shook his head. "All I know is that this guy bugs me," he said, gesturing towards Kakashi with his thumb, "alot."

"Well," said their sensai, ignoring Sasuke's remark, "If that's all, I'm going. I'll tell you if any new missions come up. Bye."

And before they knew it, he disappeared.

Sakura groaned. "Oh great," she said, "I'm late."

"For what?" asked Naruto.

"My mom wanted me home. She needs a lot of help around the house."

Sakura looked at Naruto. "Hey Naruto... are you doing anything today? I could use some help."

Naruto immediately brightened up. "Nope," he said, "Nothing. Absolutely nothing at all."

"Good, then you can take Sasuke around the village. Just bring him places that might help him with his memory."

"Wait..."

"Thanks Naruto! Bye Sasuke! See you later!" She walked away, waving.

Great, thought Naruto and Sasuke at the same time, I'm stuck with this loser all day.

They both stood there, staring at each other. Finally, Sasuke turned and started walking away.

"Hey!" said Naruto, following him "Where are you going? Sakura wants me to show you around the village."

"I know. Where do you think I'm going?"

"Oh."

"A flower shop?"

Naruto nodded his head, smiling.

"Ok....Why?"

"This is a special flower shop. All Konoha ninja can choose what they want for free."

"Really?"

"Really. But, you see I already chose something today. I took a rose earlier to give to Sakura. But I don't have a vase. I was wondering if you would get that one in the window for me, since we can only get one thing a day." The lie came surprisingly easy to Naruto. "And since you and Sakura are..you know...I thought it would be nice of you."

Sasuke shrugged. "Sure," he said. He walked into the flower shop.

Naruto laughed to himself. Any second now Ino will come and catch him, he thought, then it'll be all over.

But a second later, Sasuke walked out of the shop, holding the vase from the window display. He tossed it to Naruto. "Here," he said.

"What?" said Naruto, surprised.

Ino came out of the door, wearing an apron and holding a broom to sweep the outside of the shop. She looked in their direction and smiled, walking over to them. "Hi Sasuke," she said. Then she turned to Naruto and saw him holding the vase. Her face became angry and terrifying.

"Wait," said Naruto, "It's not what it looks like..."

"You have to pay for that!!!"

Naruto cowered and Ino began chasing him with the broom, hitting him over the head over and over again.

"You little thief!!!" she screamed, hitting him harder each time.

After a few minutes, Naruto was sitting on the ground with a black eye and clutching the huge bumps on his head.

"Hmph." said Ino, holding the vase and walking back into the shop.

Sasuke smirked, walking up behind Naruto. "Almost got me there." he said.

"Shut up!" shouted Naruto getting up and turning to him.

"Whatever," said Sasuke beginning to walk again, "Where next?"

Naruto followed him, grinding his teeth angrily. An idea popped into his head and he smiled maliciously. "I know..." he said slyly.

3 - I've Seen More Than Enough

"Where are you taking me you loser?" asked Sasuke as him and Naruto walked through the village.

"You'll see! And don't call me a loser!"

"Hn."

"You really haven't changed, you know that Sasuke?! I don't care what the doctor says!"

Sasuke ignored him and continued walking. Naruto was only a few steps behind him, when they heard a shriek behind them.

"What was that?!" said Sasuke, bewildered. Naruto knew all too well.

"RUN!" he shouted as a huge group of fangirls came around a corner.

The one that screamed earlier yelled, "SASUKE-KUN!!!" and broke into a fast run towards the two boys. The crowd of girls followed her, screaming and waving their arms.

"Who are they?!" yelled Sasuke as him and Naruto darted through the villagers. He looked back as he heard his name being yelled by what must have been a hundred different screaming mouths. Him and Naruto sped up when they saw how close the shrieking fangirls were getting.

"I'll...explain....later!" shouted Naruto between exhausted breaths. The two boys turned a corner, into an alley and stopped.

"DAMMIT!" yelled Naruto. The two of them were staring at a dead end as they panted from the run.

"They're coming!" said Sasuke as the screams became louder.

Trampling feet were heard as the stampede of girls rounded the corner and ran into the alley to find a cornered Sasuke. His blond friend was nowhere to be seen, but that was no concern of the girls. They had eyes only for the poor helpless genin.

"GET HIM!!!"

With screams and shrieks heard around the village, they all jumped on top of the raven-haired shinobi.

"WHERE'D HE GO?!" yelled the confused girls. A puff of smoke appeared where their favorite ninja had just been standing.

"HE'S GONE!"

"IT'S ALL YOUR FAULT!"

"NO IT'S NOT YOU PIG!"

"WHO ARE YOU CALLING A PIG?!"

The fangirls all started arguing. And before you could say ramen, fists were flying and hair was being pulled.

"DON'T SCRATCH ME!!!"

"SASUKE HATES YOU!"

"YOU FAT IDIOT!!!"

"SASUKE IS MINE!!!"

"OH YEAH?! DO YOU HAVE A LOCK OF HIS HAIR IN YOUR LOCKET?! I DON'T THINK SO!"

"WELL, DO YOU HAVE ONE OF HIS FAVORITE SHIRTS?"

"I HAVE A TISSUE HE USED!"

"YEAH, WELL I HAVE A JAR OF HIS FINGERNAIL CLIPPINGS!"

"LIAR!"

"NO I'M NOT!"

"THEN HOW'D YOU GET 'EM?!"

"I GO DIGGING THROUGH HIS GARBAGE, DUH!"

"SO? I DO THE SAME THING AND I NEVER FOUND ANY OF THAT STUFF!"

"YOU DIDN'T LOOK HARD ENOUGH!"

"WELL, I STILL FOUND A HALF-EATEN RICE BALL THAT I LOOK AT EVERY NIGHT BEFORE I GO TO BED!"

o_O

Naruto and Sasuke watched from the roof of a nearby building, disgusted.

"Fangirls," Naruto muttered under his breath.

Sasuke's eye twitched. "I'm actually glad I'm staying at Sakura's tonight..."

When the two of them had been cornered, Naruto had thought quickly. Using his shadow clone jutsu, he turned one of the clones into Sasuke using a substitution jutsu. Then they had quickly gone onto the nearest (and tallest) building, using the rest of the clones as a human ladder.

"That was close." said Naruto, still breathing heavily.

They stood on top of the building for a while, until Sasuke turned and started walking away.

"Let's go," he said, "I've seen more than enough."

"But," said Naruto, "I still wanna bring you somewhere."

"Where?"

"It's...a surprise."

"Like I trust you."

"No, really!"

Sasuke sighed. "Fine..." he said reluctantly.

Naruto grinned.

"Then follow me!"

Sorry for the short ch, but I'll post more soon!

Tell me what u think!

4 - Why Is There A Whale On Top Of The Ramen Shop?!

"Now where are we?"

"Ichiraku's! The best place for ramen in the village!"replied Naruto, beaming.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and kept his hands in his pockets.

"Come on!"said Naruto. He grabbed Sasuke's arm and attempted to pull him into the booth.

Sasuke remained in the same spot, giving Naruto an annoyed look.

"Don't touch me."

Naruto winced as Sasuke's dark eyes pierced his blue ones, and quickly let go of him. Regaining composure, he pointed towards the booth.

"Come on!"he whined.

Rolling his eyes again, Sasuke walked into the booth, lifting the red flaps. As Naruto came up behind him, he dropped the flaps and let them hit his face.

"Hey!"shouted Naruto, coming in angrily.

Sasuke was sitting on one of the stools and smirking. In a huff, Naruto sat next to him and asked for two bowls of ramen.

"Coming up! Just a moment!"

"Just one."said Sasuke.

"What?"asked Naruto.

"I'm not hungry. I don't want any. Is that so hard to believe?"

"But....but...you have to!"

"And why's that?"asked Sasuke suspiciously.

Naruto thought about it.

"Don't have a good reason?"asked Sasuke mockingly, "Or do you just not want to tell me? Another one of your stupid tricks?"

Naruto's face turned red. "NO!" he shouted.

Of course it was a lie. He didn't want Sasuke to know that he planned to get as much ramen as possible and then leave Sasuke with the bill. Or maybe, he wouldn't warn him to wait before the ramen cooled to eat it. He would watch anxiously and laugh at him when he burned his mouth. Then there was the idea of....well, better not think about it now. Sasuke had figured out that he was planning something. He didn't know exactly what, but he wasn't stupid enough to take that chance. Naruto had been the idiot here.

Sasuke chuckled. "Baka."he said under his breath.

"What?! What did you say?!"shouted Naruto.

Sasuke spoke up. "I said, 'Baka'. Are you hard of hearing?"

A bowl of ramen was placed in front of Naruto. Without thinking (and still glaring angrily at Sasuke), he picked up a pair of chopsticks and shoved a huge mouthful of noodles and fishcake into his mouth. It took him a second, but he finally felt the searing, burning pain well up inside his mouth. A stream of tears ran down his face as he yelled and jumped around like a fool.

"AHHHHHHHHH!!!!!!!!!!!!!"he screamed.

Sasuke took another pair of chopsticks. He picked up some noodles from Naruto's bowl and ate them. Naruto' jaw dropped as he chewed and swallowed the noodles, without any sign of pain on his face.

Sasuke shrugged and Naruto's jaw dropped farther.

"What's the big deal?"

Naruto opened his mouth to speak, but was interrupted by a yell outside.

"OH SASUKE-KUN!!!! MY SASUKE-KUN!!!!"

"What was that?"

The two boys ran outside onto the street. They turned their heads in different directions, trying desperately to find the voice's owner.

"UP HERE!!!"yelled the voice.

Naruto and Sasuke looked up.

"WHY IS THERE A WHALE ON TOP OF THE RAMEN SHOP?!"shouted Naruto.

"HEY!!!"shouted the voice angrily.

A large, round-looking fangirl was sitting on the roof of the shop. The girl spotted Sasuke and her eyes instantly grew large and sparkling.

"SASUKE!!!!"she shouted. Before he knew what had happened, the large girl jumped off the roof. Screaming, she landed on top of the poor raven-haired boy.

"SASUKE!"yelled Naruto, his eyes growing wide.

"Oops,"said the girl standing up and looking down at her flattened, unconcious crush. Tears ran down her face, as she ran away, her arms flapping and waving in the air.

"I NEED MY RICEBALL!!!!"she shouted between sobs (from last ch!).

Uh-oh, thought Naruto, walking over to Sasuke and looking down at him.

"Sakura's gonna kill me," he said outloud.

"Why am I gonna kill you?"asked a voice.

"S-Sakura!!!"

"Hi Naruto! Where's Sas-" the pink-haired girl stopped when she noticed the unconcious boy on the ground.

Her eyes opened wide and she turned to Naruto, more terrifying then ever.

"WHAT....HAPPENED?!"

"Um....."

Sakura chased Naruto into the ramen shop and cornered him, fuming mad. She spotted the huge bowl of ramen sitting on the counter and picked it up.

Naruto backed up into a corner, helpless.

Uh-oh....HELP!!!

Only 1 or 2 more chappies left!!!!

5 - The Results of Sakura's Fury

Once again, Sasuke woke up in a bed that was not his own.

Once again, he thought, Where am I?

Once again, he sat up, rubbing his aching head.

But, unlike the first time, something was different. Now, when he tried thinking back, he remembered. Unfortunately.

"Baka," he said, unwrapping the bandages around his head and left eye, "Damn you Naruto. I'm gonna kill you."

He gingerly touched the bumps and bruises covering his head with the tips of his fingertips. He tried not to wince as he felt the damage, and cursed Naruto more than ever. He looked up, annoyed, as the door swung open. He was expecting to see the nurse. Still, his face showed no surprise when Sakura walked in.

She was holding a white flower in her laced fingers and her concerned eyes became wide as she saw Sasuke sitting up.

"You're awake Sasuke-kun?"

Sasuke glared at her.

"What's wrong? Are you feeling ok?"

When he didn't answer, she walked over to his bedside and placed the flower in an empty vase.

"I got this for you last time, but I forgot to put it in your room."

Silence.

Sakura looked at the floor uncomfortably. Suddenly, she looked up, baffled with the Uchiha's behavior.

"What's wrong?!"

"Hn."

"Did Naruto do something?"

"Yeah, but I'm not bothering with that idiot right now."

"Then what is it?"

"More than friends?"

Sakura's eyes grew wider than ever as she blushed. "What do you mean?"

"Memory's back."

Her eyes opened even wider. "It...is?"

"Yeah."

"Oh...well...um...sorry...about that..."

"Hn.....Where's Naruto? I'm not exactly happy with him either."

"About that..."said Sakura, rubbing the back of her head.

"What?"

"Well....He's two doors down."

"What?"

"Well, when I saw you unconscious on the floor like that, I kinda got a little angry and..."

"And what?"

"I hit him over the head with a bowl of ramen."

Sasuke smirked. "Good."

Sakura looked relieved to see that he wasn't angry.

"The only thing is...."she started, trailing off.

"What now?"

"Well, I hit him kinda hard and....well, now he might have amnesia."

"You're kidding?"

"No..."

Sasuke sighed.

The door opened again. The nurse entered, carrying a brown-papered package.

She tossed it on the bed. "This came for you," she said grumpily.

"Something wrong?" Sasuke asked, smirking at her fowl mood.

"No, of course not," she said with a fake smile.

Then she muttered under her breath, "I'm so sick of you little bastards. You all make my job so frigin difficult."

Sasuke pulled the note off of the brown package, rolling his eyes at the nurse. It read:

DEAR SASUKE-KUN,

I FELT SO BAD ABOUT WHAT HAPPENED THAT I DECIDED TO RETURN THIS.

XOXOXOXOXOXO LUV U ALWAYS XOXOXOXOXOXO

Sasuke curiously opened the brown wrapping and twitched at the sight. An old, half-eaten riceball was staring back at him.

Sakura twitched as well.

"What the hell is that?!" asked the nurse, forgetting to use her fake voice.

When no one answered she sighed, frustrated.

"Your little friend seems to have waken up. Really, I don't understand how you little bastards are so accident-prone. It's as if you're trying to make my job as hard as possible. Two cases of amnesia in one frigin week!!! Of course it wouldn't have been, if that little dog over there hadn't of lost her temper and smashed the idiot over the head." She pointed at Sakura, fuming mad.

The two pre-teens stared at her in disbelief.

"Sasuke, you'll be discharged in a few days. Sakura, out. Now."

"But," said Sakura, "Visiting hours aren't over yet."

"Why the hell do I care?! I said out, you little dog!!!! I'm not kidding!!!! NOW!!!!"

With that she turned in a huff towards the door.

Sasuke had enough. He brought back his left arm, with the hand holding his "gift" and aimed.

The nurse cringed as a half-eaten riceball made contact with the back of her blond head.

Sakura giggled and Sasuke smirked. The nurse tried her best to stay calm. After all, he was a patient.

Sasuke swung his legs out from under the covers, and stood up.

"And where the hell do you think you're going?!?!?!?"

He walked past her without a word. Sakura trotted after him, still giggling.
(Inner Sakura: CHA!!!DIRECT HIT!!!SASUKE-KUN GOT THAT dog GOOD!!!)

Sasuke stopped two doors down and opened the door. He and Sakura walked into the room.

Blank, blue eyes stared back at them.

Yay!!! The end!!!!

But, if i get enough reviews, I'm gonna write a sequel called Naruto Gets Amnesia!!!!

So comment if you want more!!!! Mwa-ha-ha, IM SO EVIL!!! I LUV WRITING SUSPENSE!!! XD
