wanna find out...?

1 - chapter 1

Dark Love

Prologue

He looked all over the house, searching for his one true love. He entered a room, where she lay asleep on a bed. Pink silk curtains draped around the bed. He journeyed so far, and so long to find her… and now he has. She was his princess of the undead. Therefore seeing that it was only suitable since he was prince and his father was king… but his father died a horrible death many years ago. He rested his head on her shoulders… hoping to not wake her, for that would be rude and disgraceful for seeing this; such a beauty wake… for when it was asleep, she was the most beautiful creature there was. No one would even dare confront him about her… no one dares even speak vile of her in his presence. He longed for the fresh taste of her blood… but he had to sustain himself. Just one quick taste… he thought to himself. He quickly licked her neck, smoothening it for his fangs to bare down on it. She slowly opened her eyes.

"M-master…?" She asked. He sunk his teeth into her skin, sucking her blood. He lifted his fangs and licked the holes that were left. She turned, staring into her blood red eyes.

"Go back to sleep…" He said and rubbed her. She felt her eyes fall like anvils and her head lay on the bed, soft but yet so gentle.

"Go back to sleep… my princess…"
