

masked angel

By lukasrossistalker29

Submitted: October 24, 2006

Updated: October 24, 2006

this is a poem of the phantom of the opera

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/lukasrossistalker29/40330/masked-angel>

Chapter 1 - masked angel

2

1 - masked angel

masked angel

Where will you hide? In fear that no one will love you, you hide your face in shame. Beneath that mask is a childish innocence. You envy what is a sin. My fated words rollick in your head. Do you see it true or just a lie? You watched me from the heavens, my child, you are blind. Light nor dark. What do you really want? You lust for a different sin, its told in your eyes. Will you reject this? Will it haunt you if not told? Speak my masked angel, tell me of your duration. One touch is all I linger for. is what is mellowed. Love, devotion? Dont say I dont care for your life, your reality. A ramping chaos in a hushed world. Without your mask, I shall not see your outside beauty. Do you believe me? Angel, youve seen my morning, youve seen my night. Its no different. Behold angel, the world is a masquerade of paper faces and rich colors. Unique yet all in the same. Worry not child, youre just part of the parade.