My Life As A Ninja

chapter 1

“Ewww! Gross!” I yelled. I had just eaten a particularly nasty piece of meat. I slowly transformed, my features bubbling, into a very small type of dog. I chased my tail a few times, scratched myself behind the ear, and walked away on all four feet. After a few minutes of walking, I stopped to take a nap in the alley. Then suddenly, my worst enemy came and ran toward me, the dog catcher. I jumped out of the way and bit him on the neck. He yelled with pain and backed off. I took my chances and ran into the Ninja Academy, where I saw a girl my age. I ran up to her and gave her my best puppy dog eyes. She gladly took me to her home. Once there I curled up in her bed and went to sleep. The next day she poured me some dog food, gave me some water, and gave me a bath, and I hated the bath. She summoned a ball and threw it, I happily ran after it. When I brought it back she gave me a treat. The next day she went back to the Ninja Academy while I followed her. When she went inside I ran into the alley, changed into a human, and walked into the Ninja Academy. I sat beside her and talked to her. I learned a few jutsus and a new summon. I ran past her in the hall, trying to get to the alley before her. While I was running I had accidentally knocked her over. “Sorry,” I said. “Hi my name’s Nick, what’s your’s?,” I asked. “I’m Morgan,” said the girl. “Glad to meet you Morgan,” I told her. I ran out the door and turned into a dog again. Morgan came out and petted me. Alex, Morgan’s best friend, came running towards us. I ran in front of Morgan. Right when Alex touched me, I burst into flames. “Whoa!,” Alex yelled. “Puppy!,” screamed Morgan. She grabbed the nearest fire extinguisher. “I’ll save you!,” she said while squirting me with suds. I sat there, drenched and cold. She took me home, gave me food, milk, and a bath. Of course, I hated the bath. She wrapped me up in warm blankets and put me on her bed. I shook off the blankets and jumped on Morgan’s stomach. She woke with a jerk. “Oh, it’s only you,” she said with relief in her voice. I jumped onto the floor and ran to the door. She followed me outside. I slowly changed into a human. She watched me in amazement. “I’m your dog,” I said. She stared in disbelief. “Well, what do you think?,” I asked. “But you’re Nick I met you this morning,” she said. “H-how did you change into a dog,” she asked. “I learned it when I was 5 years old,” I told Morgan. “I also have a Sharingan eye,” I said pulling up my headband to reveal my Sharingan eye. She took a step back. “It’s not dangerous, it’s just a bloodline trait,” I explained. “I’m sorry I didn’t tell you earlier than this,” I said. “It’s OK. Do you still want to live with me?,” she asked. I gladly accepted her offer. “Oh, also, Sharingan spirits when activated, permit power and speed,” I explained. “Watch.” I grabbed a can, activated my Sharingan, and threw the can. I jumped into the air, kicked it, disappeared, appeared on the other side of the can and slammed my elbow into it so that it created a crater in the can and ground. When the can hit the ground, it completely disappeared very deep in the ground. “Wow,” Morgan said shocked. “See,” I said on the other side of her. I guess I scared her because she jumped. “That was cool,” she said, “I want to learn to do that.” “It’ll take a lot of practice,” I told her.

Chapter 2

When I woke up, Morgan was already running out the door. I had to run to catch up with her. "I'm late," she said. I walked beside her until we got to the Academy. We were almost to the door when someone came out of nowhere and kicked me in the chin sending me flying. I did a backflip, landed on my feet and pulled out a shuriken. "Who's there," I asked, rubbing where they had kicked me. I looked around very cautiously. I saw the outlines of two people. "Lock on," I whispered. I identified them as Ino and Shikamaru. Shika had fooled me and Ino had kicked me. Ino ran towards me and I hit her with a swift punch in the stomach. Shika stood there, looking at his partner on the ground. I threw him in the air, hit him with a spinning kick, sending him down to the ground. They were both unconscious now. "Come on Morgan," I told her, "There might be more." We ran inside the Academy and sat down in class without being noticed. I learned more about stealth and speed. My test was to defeat Gaara [this was before he was evil] within 7 minutes. I kicked him in the stomach, knocked him off his feet, and used fireball jutsu on him. He was knocked out in 4 minutes. "You have passed the test," said Hayate Gekko. Everyone cheered and some even whistled. I walked into the Academy and got my headband, I was put into the Akatsuki team. Morgan was put into the same team as me. I went home and put my headband in a case and went to sleep. When I woke up, my eyes started to hurt. I looked at the clock, it was 7:15 am. I got out of bed, turned into a dog, and stretched every muscle in my body. I looked around to see who was there. It was only Morgan snoring. I took my usual walk around town with Morgan, and I even chased some cats for her entertainment. Alex came running around the corner screaming, "I saw a pretty girl!," as he ran past us. He turned around and looked at me. "Demon doggy," he yelled. He came and pet me, I burst into flames again. "Whoa," he said. I rolled on my back to douse the flames. I started chasing my tail while Morgan laughed uncontrollably. She pet me and said, "Good dog." I panted out of the heat of the flames. I ran and found someone, brought him to Morgan, and sat beside of Morgan. "I'm Itachi from the Akatsuki team," the boy said. "That's the same team that I'm in," Morgan told him. "Cool, I'll see you in the academy then. Ok," he said. Morgan nodded and he walked away. I sat there, shocked because he also had the Sharingan. He was like me. I followed him until he turned into an alley. There was someone else in the alley, Itachi threw him against the wall and choked him until he became unconscious without touching him. Then Itachi vanished. The boy was Sasuke, Itachi's brother.

A.N./ Sorry it took so long to get Nick's second chapter but I've been busy with school work and his handwriting is a little hard to read. But I hope that everybody that reads this enjoys it.
